Something new for our journey

Dear Guests,

As we prepare to travel together, I would like to share a new idea with you. A new app, K&D102, brings our daily journey, my announcements, hotel and flight details, destination guides, group information, photos and memories into one place.

This is an independent concept, an experiment, not an official Tauck app. We hope it will make it easier to find what you need, stay connected with the group and enjoy the discoveries along the way.

There is something new in your suitcase. Our animated tutorial begins with a suitcase rolling into view. When you are ready, press “Let’s Unpack”; then start the journey at your own pace. You can pause, go back, change the speed or jump to a chapter. The illustrated K&D102 Quick Guide is here if you prefer to browse or print the steps.

You are invited to help shape what comes next. In the app’s More tab, share what delighted you, what could be simpler and what you wish the app could do. Please tell us as ideas occur to you. You can return and update your thoughts throughout our journey.

The best ideas may come from the travelers using it. I look forward to experiencing the journey with you.

Warmly,

Xavier Brunelle

Tour Director

Your journey is packed. Now let’s go experience it.

Technology should quietly make the journey better.
